(By Associated Press.) LONDON, June 12.—The foreign office has authorized the following statement concerning the cargoes of cotton on board vessels stopped by the British marine authorities:

"The German submarine ship, the U-109, was sunk in the North sea before being landed at Hartlepool. The Lowestoft trawler Britannia, has been sunk by a German submarine. The Britannia was given time to leave their boat before the Germans blew it up with a bomb."

The note is the "con game" of which the police accuse L. C. Smith, alias C. C. Edwards, who is held on suspicion of being a spy.

Smith is said to have told that the British government is willing and anxious to effect an immediate settlement.

Claims have been requested to furnish documents showing ownership of the bank of the Dinister in the same place.

The communications to President Wilson and General Carranza were formulated at a meeting of Villa and his staff at Aguascalientes.

While the president was at a conference point out two reasons for his action. First, that unless the constitutionalists reorganize the government the Cientificos (Diaz party) will again get control.

D. T. Cannon, night clerk at the Scottville hotel, has positively identified Smith as the man who worked this game on him Friday night. Cannon notified Officer Guy Lindsay at a police office.

Lindsay trailed his man from the Scottville to the Terminal hotel, to the Terminal station and thence to another hotel, where he arrested him.

Several times during the night they reached our barbed wire entanglements, but were thrown back, leaving hundreds of killed and wounded.

Postoffice Inspector "Ed Barry" has been notified of Smith's arrest at Smith's having winded the stamp clerk at the postoffice in this manner: Several cigar clerks and hotel clerks also accuse the man.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—It was learned today that two fires yesterday in one of the holds of the British steamer Penlee, loaded here with oats for export, resulted in the loss of having been of considerable value.

C. McKenzie to open up a road running from the R. B. Burnham farm in the South Bend district to the farm of John McKenzie, claiming that the road was a private one, had placed a fence across it.

McKenzie and H. H. Coogler and J. G. Smith were the plaintiffs, and thirty other persons were named as defendants.

Mrs. M. A. Hale, the first woman graduate of the University of Georgia, filed a petition in Superior Court today for an injunction to restrain the Georgia Railway and Navigation company from developing an energetic offensive campaign against the entire 5th company of the Seventeenth Georgia Infantry toward Stry and Mikolaitow, but the accurate fire of our guns could not be seen in the train to be made. In this action the head of our infantry column developed an energetic offensive campaign against the entire 5th company of the Seventeenth Georgia Infantry toward Stry and Mikolaitow, but the accurate fire of our guns could not be seen in the train to be made.

One was discovered in the morning and another in the same hold late in the afternoon. Only a small quantity of the burned and the ship was not damaged.

The blazes were extinguished by members of the steamship refused to go into dry dock.

Other citizens joined in the protest. The road had been used for forty years as a public thoroughfare.

The ordinary decided that the plaintiffs had a good case and that they were entitled to an injunction upon which their property abuted, and that McKenzie would have to take down his fence in forty days.

SHIPPING OF PASSENGERS BRITISH "UNTHINKABLE CRIME"

Time Here for U. S. to Enforce
International Law, Says
Judge Gray, Addressing Jersey Lawyers

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12.—Judge George Gray of Wilmington, Del., former United States senator, and member of the international permanent court of arbitration under the Hague convention, addressing the New Jersey Bar association in convention here today, asserted the time had come, as never before, in our eventful history, for America to assert the vital character and binding force of the obligations which international law has placed upon belligerent nations.

The destruction of unarmed merchant ships without regard to the lives or safety of noncombatant passengers and crew, was characterized by Judge Gray as "no evil deed, but a crime against the instincts of humanity," as to be "presumably unthinkable in the minds of those who framed this convention" at The Hague.

Mr. Bryan also tells the German-Americans, first not to suspect President Wilson of not being neutral and friendly toward Germany, because he is both evading the command, in his anxiousness of peace and that it is their duty to stand by the president, and second, not to attempt to connect the negotiations now in progress with Germany with those in progress with Great Britain, because the cases are different.

Mr. Bryan declared that President Wilson had been unjustly criticized by partisans of both sides in the European conflict, expressed confidence in the president, and that he stood by the president. He declared that the killing of innocent women and children, either by drowning or starting, could be justified, and suggested a change in the shipping laws to exclude passengers from ships carrying contraband or ammunition.

With the issuance of Mr. Bryan's latest statement, the German secretary's future course, Mr. Bryan had said that the might make an announcement on the subject today.

STRENGTH OF MODERATION.
"There was the strength of moderation in the tone that he uttered. It was the tone of a great, law-abiding and just-loving man. Upon that impregnable rock of law and humanity the president has taken his stand. I, this we have given, and will continue to give him our confidence and support."

"And all the savagery and lawlessness which have been practiced by this unprecedented trial," Judge Gray said, referring to the European war, "ought for international law have been entirely repudiated. Its precepts are still applicable to the European war, and its obligations are recognized even in their violation. However this may be, these nations are not to be treated as to be outside of this terrible conflict, and who have proclaimed their neutrality, the positive rules of international law are not silent, but have come of times of such importance."

"Never before in our eventful history has the time been so opportune, or the conditions so exigent, for our country to assert the rights that belong to a neutral nation, and to invoke the principles of that neutrality, which have been the basis of our civilization. It is as never before that we stand up for the principles of international law, and assert the vital character and binding force of the obligations which international law has imposed upon nations for the protection of neutral rights."

"The work accomplished by the second conference was reviewed in detail. In this connection Judge Gray said:

"Without expressly so stating this convention recognizes the right of capture of enemy merchant ships, and it is a crime with particularity that the crew of such merchant ships are not to be made prisoners of war on condition that they give their parole not to undertake hostile acts, and are connected with the operations of war."

"The care with which the safety and treatment of the officers and crew of noncombatant ships are provided for in this convention, gives rise to a feeling of surprise, and a feeling of surprise in regard to the intentional decision of such ships without regard to the lives or safety of the noncombatant passengers and crew thereon, a significance more important than the most express words of denunciation could do. Such an act, so revolting to the common instincts of humanity, was irretrievably unthinkable in the minds of those who framed this convention, and was undoubtedly sufficiently covered by implication at least, in the well settled course of international law."

In conclusion Judge Gray said:

"We stand today in the shadow of a great world conflict, and that the minds and hearts are filled with serious thought and anxiety as to the attitude of our country in this neutral position. Whatever position we assume there is no doubt that we shall present a united front to the nations of the world. American tradition forbids us to believe otherwise than that our position would be based upon justice and that we shall maintain the right as God gives us to see the right."

BRYAN ASKS TESTIMONY TO SUPPORT HIS POSITION

Former Secretary of State Appeals to German-Americans in His Third Statement on His Position Regarding Cabinet
Crisis

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 12.—Former Secretary Bryan's campaign to put before the American people his position growing out of the situation between the United States and Germany was expected to have come to an end for the present with the publication today of his appeal to German-Americans. In his third statement since his resignation, Mr. Bryan urges German-Americans to aid in maintaining peace between the United States and Germany. He appeals to them to endeavor to influence the German government to take no steps that would lead in the direction of war.

Mr. Bryan also tells the German-Americans, first not to suspect President Wilson of not being neutral and friendly toward Germany, because he is both evading the command, in his anxiousness of peace and that it is their duty to stand by the president, and second, not to attempt to connect the negotiations now in progress with Germany with those in progress with Great Britain, because the cases are different.

DR. MERNBERG LEAVES FOR AMERICA DURING MAY

Kaiser's Mouthpiece in U. S.
Whose Remarks Were Offensive, Sails for Norway

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 12.—Dr. Bernard Mernberg, the former German colonial secretary, who has been in this country for several months, has sailed for Norway today and boarded the ocean liner under an assurance of safe conduct given to the Washington state department by the British, French and Russian embassies. No official announcement has been made as to whether he will remain in Scandinavian countries for a time or go direct to Berlin.

After Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, announced early in the war that he would discontinue interviews with the Kaiser's mouthpiece in U. S., Dr. Mernberg was regarded as the leading exponent of German views in this country. One of his most notable utterances was his attack upon the United States in Portland, Me., in which he declared for his country's ambition for world domination, but insisted upon an open sea and a policy of free intercourse. His speeches and interviews reached a climax when he attempted to justify the sinking of the Lusitania, as it knows no other than the American lives. There were intimations that he might be invited to leave the United States, but about a month ago the German embassy announced he would depart on his own initiative.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Conferences between Mayor Thompson and W. M. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, with other union officials attending were begun here today in an effort to avert a strike of 14,500 street car men.

The mayor was prepared to urge arbitration, but President Mahon said he would oppose any such action. He was assured a substantial wage increase.

"I hope we will find a way to prevent a strike," Mahon said, "but if a wage increase isn't coming a strike will be called."

AMERICANS' EXECUTION IS HELD UP IN MEXICO

U. S. Probes Cases of Two Men
Sentenced for Passing
Counterfeit Money

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 12.—George Marx and S. Franklin, the Americans under death sentence in Mexico charged with circulating counterfeit money, are safe from execution until the United States has had time to investigate their cases. Consul Edwards, at Juarez, reported today that the court would furnish the evidence to the state department.

First official news from American sources of the battle at Leon in which both Villa and Carranza have claimed victory, received here today, refuted reports of Villa's rout, and say his army is at Lihera with large quantities of supplies and that the Carranza forces are too weak to advance.

The dispatch confirms Villa's claim of victory at Lihera, and adds that in the later evening Carranza's army was the supplies he had taken in the former fight. He retired from Leon to Lihera, the dispatch given. Carranza's flank movement of Carranza troops made Leon untenable for occupation.

Today's dispatches indicate that both armies are gathering strength for another battle.

Protection Is Promised
People in Mexico City

(By Associated Press.)
GALVESTON, Texas, June 12.—General Gonzalez, commanding the constitutionalist troops, which is expected soon will occupy Mexico City, has issued a proclamation in which he guarantees protection for all persons in the capital, that there will be no special taxes levied upon the citizens, and that he will make for all supplies taken and call upon the merchants to co-operate in relieving the distress of the civil population. News of the issuance of the proclamation reached the constitutionalist headquarters here today. The information also was given that the forces of Gonzalez are within sixty kilometers of Mexico City.

SLATON WILL VISIT PENCIL FACTORY TO STUDY FRANK CASE

tion and in addition thereto I now testify that Judge Roan is in the original. "I take it that the solicitor is familiar with all the documents. They are the only documents we expect to deal with."

Here Mr. Howard read the affidavit of the doctors who examined Frank, in which they declare his physical examination disclosed a normal, healthy man, and his mental examination disclosed a clean, well balanced mind.

Resuming Mr. Howard said: "The petitioner asserts the absolute innocence of Leo M. Frank but we only ask a commutation of his sentence. We assert and will contend that it is proved by this record that he did not commit the crime. The relief prayed for does not pose a change of the jury's verdict but simply a change of the penalty. While this is the prayer of the petition, we recognize the constitutional right and duty of your excellency, if convinced, to grant him a full pardon. However, the petition does not impugn the jury's verdict, but simply a change of punishment from blood death to life imprisonment."

"What has been said as to our seeking to impugn the verdict or criticize the judgments in this case is gratuitous. It is evident that the petitioner is not a man who protests that his conviction has no right to commute this sentence and the state clothes you with the right."

SLATON ASKS QUESTIONS.

Here the governor asked: "Do you contend that Judge Roan could have fixed this case in life imprisonment?"

Mr. Howard: "Yes, with propriety. My position, your excellency, taken on the record, is that the evidence established beyond a reasonable doubt the guilt of James Conley. This evidence construed and interpreted by the law does not and cannot establish the guilt of the murderer. Conley, starting with the corpus delicti and pursuing the case to the end, is proven to have committed the crime. Conley and Frank contrasted by their conduct confirm the contention as a matter of law that the jury was right and that Frank cannot be guilty."

Mr. Howard: "I will argue that the evidence taken from the record by the rules of law, leaves not a single scintilla of evidence to show that Frank is guilty. I will show that even the argument conceived in the zealous mind of the solicitor does not connect Frank with the crime. I will show that Conley was the author of the murder, and that he logically and evidently he was the author of the murder. I think I can make plain how the jury reached its conclusion to acquit Frank."

ANOTHER QUESTION.

Here the governor asked: "I have already read 221 pages of the record. When you speak of Conley having acquitted the jury, do you mean to reconcile the testimony of Dr. Harris, that he found the body?"

Mr. Howard: "We are going to rely on Dr. Harris' own testimony. In the course of his testimony, he stated that the absence of the particular evidence by his own testimony, he had performed the autopsy, did not conclusively show there had been no criminal assault."

Mr. Howard, continuing, said: "If your excellency will recall Dr. Dorsey's speech to the jury you will find that he repeatedly used the expression, 'that the little girl had been ravished.' Now if the jury were impressed by these expressions and by the arguments in connection with them, as would be the solicitor, we may adopt his own promise to argue to the jury that the girl was half a day about the difference existing in the testimony of the doctors. I believe, however, to state that, that it is unfair to me or my case, but because it serves to clear up no particular point, I am perfectly willing to let the question on Dr. Harris' testimony. There was a great controversy between the doctors. My experience has taught me wherever possible to try a case without doctors and diagrams. If I can win this case on one doctor and that doctor the state's own witness, I am more than satisfied."

I accept Dr. Harris' testimony, both as to the condition of the body, the state of digestion, the condition of the little girl had eaten, and as to other points. The net result of his testimony on the state of digestion was to show that the girl met death one half or three quarters of an hour after the alleged murder."

I stand in and by this case on Dr. Harris. There is evidence here, evidence of great importance—as to the independent physical condition of the body, which is independent of Conley's evidence."

NOT MARY'S HAIR.

There was Dr. Harris' testimony on the hair, which Dr. Harris said was not the hair of Mary. The first witness to stand on Dr. Harris' testimony on this point was the evidence about the alleged blood found on the second floor of the metal room. I will take the testimony made by the state's own witness about this blood, and the hair, and the open mind that it was not blood, but was the hair of Mary Phagan, and if not her blood, then the blood of the murdered on that floor."

That is the character of the case I propose to make, and that is the range and bound within which I propose to argue it."

The murder notes form a topic in themselves. There is no dispute as to their physical authorship. The dispute is concerning their mental authorship. I will undertake to show that both authorships were Conley's."

If you take the time Mary Phagan was taken to the second floor of the metal room, you will find Conley's testimony about the difference from the other evidence on the subject."

Somewhere in this case, Howard has been having Conley's evidence tend to show that the body did not have life in it when it was taken to the basement. The fine particles of pencil lead found on the first floor, the nose show to my mind that she must have had a spark of life in her when she was taken into the basement, because these things would not have been there had she been dead when she was breathing after she got there."

Governor Slaton at this point asked the question: "Could the elevator have been operated without the knowledge of Mr. Howard?"

Mr. Howard: "Denham testified that he could have used the elevator easier than Frank, and that he was on the fourth floor when the elevator machinery is located."

Solicitor Dorsey said to interrupt so frequently, but I don't think the jury would be able to follow him."

Mr. Howard: "Don't mind interrupting, Mr. Dorsey. I can only travel on the truth, and the law, and the facts."

Mr. Dorsey: "Another point, then, I have already testified that the elevator was not used by the record. Mr. Howard has just testified that the elevator was used by the record. I am certain that this expression is in the record."

Somewhere in this case, Howard has been having Conley's evidence tend to show that the body did not have life in it when it was taken to the basement. The fine particles of pencil lead found on the first floor, the nose show to my mind that she must have had a spark of life in her when she was taken into the basement, because these things would not have been there had she been dead when she was breathing after she got there."

Governor Slaton here announced his purpose to make a personal visit to the pencil factory and to inspect the scene of the crime. He inquired of Mr. Howard if there was any objection to his going for the girl to be taken to the basement or bodily down the ladder through the trap door."

Said Mr. Howard: "There is evidence, however, in the record to the effect that there was not room for the body to be taken through the trap door and down the ladder. I shall not dispute that, but I was left to me. I would say that witness didn't know what he was talking about."

There was no room for doubt, your excellency, in the record that the body was thrown down the trap door and down the ladder. I shall not dispute that, but I was left to me. I would say that witness didn't know what he was talking about."

THREE CONVICTS DEAD FROM BURNING EXPLOSION

"Nobody to Blame," Say Investigators—"It Just Couldn't Be Helped"

Three white convicts were killed, the foreman of their gang was seriously injured and a deputy warden and fifteen other convicts had narrow escapes, when a blast of dynamite prematurely exploded late Friday afternoon in an East Point rock quarry.

The three men killed were William J. Thornton, 28 years old, serving a twenty-year term for bank robbery at Dalton, Ga., convicted September 27, 1913; A. M. Bell, 23 years, serving a twenty-year term for robbing Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kelly of over $12,000 on the night of February 26 as they were going home from Mr. Kelly's store, Michael Manic, an Italian, 29 years old, sent up May 14, 1909, for ten years for killing a Smith on Bellwood avenue.

Foreman W. A. Hilton received a severe shock when Friday night was in a delirious condition. It is feared he has concussion of the brain. The accident occurred at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the Newnan road, two miles from East Point and about a mile from the Point Camp. The gang of convicts were preparing the last of the day's work.

Three holes, six feet apart, and each fifteen feet deep, were being loaded with dynamite, connected with wires and a battery. It was planned to blow out the face of the rock. Thornton, Bell and Manic were filling the last hole and had almost completed the job. Deputy Warden W. B. Hobson, who was standing near them superintending the work, and three of the men were killed by explosives and their dangers. In fact one of the men, Thornton, had been killed for safety.

Suddenly Hobson was called to the front of the quarry. He had been left when the explosion occurred. Thornton and Bell were killed outright. Manic's legs were broken and he was body blown away. He retained consciousness, however, and the Grady hospital before he died at 2 o'clock Friday morning. He spoke these words: "It was my fault; I was tampering too hard."

The flame from the explosion ran along a crevice in the rock and ignited the other two loads of dynamite. Their explosion followed by a few minutes the first. That more men were not killed, is considered miraculous. However, they scattered at the first blast. Several were struck by flying bits of rock, but were not hurt. Foreman Hilton, standing within a few feet of the exploded load, was so shaken that he is under the doctor's care and it is feared the shock will affect his brain.

Dr. Paul McDonald and Dr. George B. Trimble, of East Point, were summoned to the scene immediately. Manic was taken to the Grady hospital, Oscar Mills and W. T. Winn, of the board of prison commissioners, went to the camp Friday night, where Coroner Paul Donnelly held an inquest. The verdict of the coroner's jury was accidental killing and absolved the authorities and the men from any blame.

"It was a deplorable accident," said Dr. Thurman, "but we have investigated it thoroughly and proved conclusively that it was one of those things which could not be helped. The words of Manic, that he was 'tampering too hard,' appear to be the only explanation of the disaster.

The deaths of Bell and Manic were tragic, for each was hoping for a release in the near future. Manic, lately through the testimony of Bell, had been released from the state prison in Birmingham for complicity in the Kelly robbery. At the expected trial of Belcher, Bell, it is said, expected to turn state's evidence, thereby gaining a commutation of his sentence. His sudden death, it is believed, will result in the release of Belcher because there is no one to testify against him.

Manic already had had his application for pardon approved by the prison commission and was hoping to be freed any day. Manic's body has been returned to the Chicago home of A. C. & Roy Donohoe. The bodies of Thornton and Bell are at the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

SYRIAN, CHARGED WITH MURDER, IS ON TRIAL

Slayer of Charlie Maloff Says He Acted in Self-Defense

The entire session of Judge Hill's bench of the superior court, Friday afternoon, was devoted to the trial of a Syrian, charged with the murder of Charlie Maloff, another Syrian, on October 24 last. The trial was held at 10 o'clock, when the state testified until 1 o'clock, when the defense witnesses began to take the stand. Curran is charged with stabbing Maloff with a knife. Maloff died at the Grady hospital two days later. Curran admits the stabbing, but contends that it was done in self-defense. Maloff having assaulted him with a plank.

John A. Boykin and John W. Moore represent Curran; the state is represented by Assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens and Leonard J. Greenman.

At 2 o'clock Friday, with the testimony all in, Judge Hill declared a verdict in favor of the state and the defense will present their arguments to the jury.

FIVE JITNEY DRIVERS FINED BY RECORDER

Five jitney bus drivers, not among the number who have an injunction against the city prohibiting the entry of jitneys into the city, were fined $2.75 each by Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon. Four others, who had become parties to the injunction since the arrest, were not fined.

Recorded Johnson said Thursday night, when he tried the Recorder, saying he wasn't going to be guilty of contempt of the city court. Cases against four other drivers were decided by request of their attorneys until Tuesday afternoon.

JUDGE SAYS BILLET CONTROLS LAKEWOOD

According to the ruling of Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon, Lakewood park, leased from the city by Julius Billet, is under his control, and he can prohibit persons from entering or using the park if he so over his protest. This was decided in the case Billet made against Carlos Hopkins, charging him with illicit trade for a grocery company among the campers at the park.

Mrs. Frances Henley Dies (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) LIVERLY, Ga., June 12.—Mrs. Frances Henley, of near Liverly, one of Chattooga's oldest and most respected women, died suddenly Wednesday night. She was eighty-two years of age, and is survived by four sons, Mrs. R. M. Crawford, of Liverly; Mrs. H. J. Logan, of Holland; Mrs. N. A. Crawford, of near Chattooga; and Mrs. Westcott, of Chattooga.

BOY THREATENS TO KILL HIMSELF; HE DOESN'T

Roy Thomas Found by Police Lying in Bed Trying to Die

Armed with a razor, Roy Thomas, 17 years old, barricaded himself in a room in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Jones, 149 McMillan street, Friday afternoon, after threatening to members of the household and neighbors that he was tired of living and intended to kill himself.

So determined he seemed that an alarm was turned to police headquarters and a patrol wagon and two call officers rushed to the scene. They found young Thomas lying on the bed in the room. No blood or trace of any injury to him could be discovered. The boy refused to talk, lying on his back with his eyes fixed on the ceiling.

According to his grandmother, Roy was recently rejected for physical reason. The fact that he was rejected for physical condition, which is said to be bad, she thinks, weighed upon his mind that he has become despondent.

Driver "Jim" Palmer, who reached the scene with the patrol car, called officers arrived, broke all doors and windows, covering the two miles from the police station to 149 McMillan street in less than five minutes. He put the patrol car to the back of the house and the boy fought against the officers all the way.

WALTER LE CRAW WINS LAW SCHOOL MEDAL

Annual Oratorical Contest of Institution Was Held Friday Night

J. Walter LeCraw, formerly a reporter on the staff of The Journal, now a student at the Atlanta Law school and an assistant to Solicitor Hugh M. Dwyer, Friday night won the $25 medal in the annual oratorical contest of the law school with an original address on the subject, "Humanizing the Law Through Georgia."

The prize was delivered on consideration of three points—thought, composition and delivery. The judges were Judge Richard B. Russell of the state court of appeals, Ernest Clayton and Edwin Sibley.

The other contestants were Samuel Alonzo, who delivered an original address on the subject, "A Plea for State's Rights," and Henry Grady Bell, who spoke on "Equal Suffrage and Its Relation to Georgia."

The commencement of the law school will be held at the Atlanta theater Monday night, June 21, and by reason of winning the oratorical contest, Mr. LeCraw has been selected to deliver the final class oration.

Kelley and Sinkowitch Bound Over—Oscar Heyman Plays Detective

Charged with picking $40 out of the pocket of John W. McWilliams, a trolley car Thursday night, Bert Kelley and Dave Sinkowitch, two young men, were bound over to Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon under $300 bond each. Oscar Heyman, agent of the Acme Brewing company, appeared as chief witness and assistant cop. He saw the boys take the money from the pocket of McWilliams, who was sitting on the trolley car. Kelley and Sinkowitch, who were recovered from Sinkowitch, and the boys told the police where the money was hidden. They said they did not deny their guilt.

BURGLAR RIFLING TRUNK MADE WOMAN MAD

She Screamed at Him and He Ran—Recorder Calls Her Brave

According to the testimony of Miss Kate Stamp, 224 East Park street, Friday afternoon, a negro burglar at whom she screamed while rifling her trunk, ran away. She said she was so scared he jumped out of the window. She said Raymond Arnold was bound over by Recorder Johnson charged with burglary.

Miss Stamp said she woke up and saw the negro rifling her trunk. It made her so mad she got up and screamed at him. She said she was so scared he jumped out of the window. She said Raymond Arnold was bound over by Recorder Johnson charged with burglary.

NAVAL RESERVE GROWING OFFICIALS OF NAVY SAY

Re-enlistments Are Increasing Under Law Passed by Congress at Last Session

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Naval officials have observed with satisfaction the growth of the naval reserve under the law enacted at the last session of congress. While it is too early to give figures, Secretary Daniels today said there had been an increase in re-enlistments due to increased pay and the landing a re-enlisted man has in the reserve.

Mr. Daniels pointed out that the proportion of re-enlistments to first enlistments for the first months since the act became effective were 81 to 100 for March, 81 to 100 for April, and 141 to 100 for the first ten days in May.

CITIZENS WILL DISCUSS PONCE DE LEON PAVING

Property Owners Urged to Meet at Walter McElreath's Home Monday Night

Owners of property on Ponce de Leon avenue are urged to meet at the residence of Walter McElreath, 578 Ponce de Leon, Monday night at 8 o'clock to discuss the proposed paving of that thoroughfare.

Owing to a clerical error in the original petition, a new petition containing the names of 51 per cent of the property owners must be secured before the work can proceed. Both the city and county authorities, realizing the deplorable condition of Ponce de Leon avenue, declared they wish to use every effort in rushing the new pavement.

However, the paving project will be delayed indefinitely unless the property owners meet at once and sign a new petition. At the meeting at Mr. McElreath's residence Monday night not only will an effort be made to secure the signatures of more than half of the property owners, but the kind of pavement to be laid on the street will be decided upon.

Because of the differences over the other petition, Aldermen Edgar Dunlap and the members of the street committee decided to hold the next meeting of pavement at an open question to be decided by the owners of the property themselves. Chief of Construction Nym Hurl will be present at the meeting with estimates of the cost of the various kinds of pavement which are being considered, and an effort will be made to decide all questions, so a new ordinance can be introduced at the next meeting of council and work started as soon as possible.

JACK H. LEWIS NEW CHARITIES' CHAIRMAN

Jack H. Lewis Friday was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Atlanta.

Before accepting the position Mr. Lewis said he wanted the assurance of all the directors that they would cooperate with him in speedily clearing up the shortage of funds under which the association has been suffering. He said this assurance they gave him heartily.

Mr. Lewis succeeded Lindsay Hopkins, who was unable to continue in the position because his business calls him so frequently out of the city.

Mr. John H. McCoy Dies (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) TALBOTTON, Ga., June 12.—After a long illness Mr. John H. McCoy passed away Friday at his home in Talbotton.

He leaves the following children: Mrs. P. J. M. and M. A. Mrs. A. P. Persons, Talbotton.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it causes indigestion, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel bloated, constipated, and all knocked out, just go to your drugstore and get a 50 cent bottle of DODGE'S LIVER PILLS. It is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful of it, it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel. It will give you back all you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and shaky tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodge's Liver Pills you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and it will give to children; they like it.—(Advt.)

INCREASE IN BUSINESS LICENSE TAX OPPOSED

Committee May Eliminate Many Proposed Changes as Result

As the result of strenuous protests of business men many of the proposed changes in the license tax have been eliminated, even before the revised tax ordinance was reported to council.

Friday afternoon a special session of the committee was devoted to hearing citizens who protested change in the present license ordinance. One of the largest of several protesting delegations of business men was headed by W. S. Ryck and H. A. Maier, president and vice president of the Retail Merchants' association.

Alderman C. H. Kelley declared that many firms in the city are dodging just taxes by making returns for much less property than they own, and he believed an increased license tax would be beneficial in the city's efforts to uncover these people.

Demonstrations of Wonderful Earth Product in Progress Daily in This City

Numbers of Atlanta people have viewed the display of crude and refined Vitalitas and have sampled this new and marvelous product. They also noted the simple device used in extracting Vitalitas from the volcanic substance in which it is found.

One drink, which is a teaspoonful in a half glass of water, as served free at the demonstration, will do you good, if you are bilious, have stomach trouble, kidney or liver ills, or rheumatism. Vitalitas should help you from the start. When you first taste it you will feel and know it will do you good. It is not unpleasant. The action of Vitalitas is natural and there is none of the hurtful effects that come from doped remedies, narcotics and weakening physics. Multitudes are daily finding new health and strength in Vitalitas. In the treatment of such disorders as indigestion, biliousness, rheumatism, nervous debility, catarrh, and in fact disturbances generally of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and bladder, Vitalitas will be found wonderfully effective.

See the demonstration and sample Vitalitas today at Jacobus Pharmacy, 33 Whitehall, or write there for information.—(Advt.)

Should Mayor And Council License Saloons, Locker-Clubs?

Men and Religion Bulletin No. 174

The Mayor Can Veto a License Council Can Refuse a License They Can Revoke a License

"No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one and despise the other."

"You cannot serve God and Mammon."

---Luke 16:13.

THE CLUBS AND SALOONS of Atlanta daily break the law.

They sell intoxicants.

Making lawlessness worse, the thing sold hurts the buyer. It has been known to damn a soul, break the heart of a wife and send her child a gibbering degenerate through life.

You cannot serve liquor dealers and Atlanta. You cannot serve brewers and Georgia.

You cannot serve distillers and God.

YOU WHO BELIEVE AS SEVERAL OF THE ONLY TRUTH, think you of your false exposure?

What think you of that treatment of the dead?

BEN FRANKLIN'S marvelous brain put him a century ahead of his time.

EVEN CHILDREN in our day know—

Beer contains poison and spreads disease and crime, whether bottled in clear glass or brown.

KRILOFF has a fable of a robber and a writer in hell. The author complains. An imp of Satan's tasks:

"WRETCH, dost thou upbraid Providence? Dost thou compare thyself with the robber? His crime is nothing compared with thine. Only as long as he lived did his cruelty and lawlessness render him hurtful.

"BUT THOU! Long ago have thy bones crumbled to dust. Yet sin never rises without bringing to light fresh evils of which thou art the cause."

Is he not the picture of the seller of alcohol in the results of his sin?

WHAT OF HIM who, first misleading and blinding with falsehoods about beer, wine and whiskey, poisons body, mind and soul by feeding men alcohol in exchange for gold?

They do this in Atlanta. And the City participates in the gain.

Atlanta's license to a man should guarantee that that which it permits the man to do is lawful and not hurtful to the community.

For the license fee is the city's share of the money made. You, as a citizen, share, in each license, a part of the price of each glass of whiskey, wine or beer sold; whether the sale be to the immaculate member by the steward in the club, or to the lowest bum by the barkeeper in the dirtiest bar; the city gets a rake-out from club and bar.

AND BOTH BREAK THE LAW. By licensing them, your Mayor and Council have not only made you share the profits of a crime, but they have put a protecting barrier between the chief of police and law-breakers.

Should this not stop? You cannot serve law and lawlessness. You cannot serve both Truth and a Lie.

Tomorrow, Go To Church

Listen! Then ask your conscience—

Should Mayor, Council and Police Force of the City of Atlanta permit the law of Georgia to be trampled under foot in the clubs and saloons of the Capital of Georgia?

Must private citizens be forced to use the injunction to protect themselves from being partners in law-breaking clubs and bars?

Should the Mayor and Council license law-breakers?

Will Lend Money on Real Estate—J. O. Wynn Is Elected President

Announcement was made Saturday of the organization of the Georgia Mortgage-Bond company, with a capital stock of $100,000 already paid in, with the privilege of increasing it to $200,000. J. O. Wynn, the well known insurance man, is president of the company; W. L. Pomeroy, its secretary; Charles H. Pomeroy, its treasurer; and Little, Powell, Smith and Goldstein are general counsel.

The object of the company is to lend funds on real estate, mostly on farms, more than 5 per cent commission, even where it represents other lending companies. President Wynn is now negotiating with insurance companies and trustees of endowment funds for loans in this territory.

The directors of the company are Dr. W. B. Black, John W. Grant, Arthur G. Powell, Frank S. Ellis, W. L. Pomeroy, Boling H. Jones, Paul H. Trammell, and J. G. Lewis, of Kennesaw.

Report Austrians Have Blown Up Fort and Fled

MILAN, June 11.—Via Radio, June 12.—The Austrians have evacuated and blown up Fort Pozzichio, on the Puganale plateau, near Gortovo, according to a reliable source. The fortress is a mile from Vallarosa, which has been occupied by the Italians, and was one of the most formidable Austrian defenses in that section.

Russians Now Have Dniester In Possession Throughout

LONDON, June 12.—Although the British press has warned the public not to expect too early a return to normal life, it is felt more are needed there to stop the Austro-German armies in Galicia have been definitely checked, it nevertheless is believed by many military commentators here that there has been a sharp turn in the tide of the war, and that Germany, transferring any considerable force of troops either to the west or to the Italian front.

Some German forces are said to have been detached from the Galician armies and hurried to the Italian front, but it is felt more are needed there to stop the Italian advance on the Adriatic.

The latest official announcements from Petrograd say the Russians have assumed the offensive in the Carpathian region, and they concede the loss of ground nowhere except along the River Pruth in Bukovina.

Viewing the recent fighting in Galicia in perspective it may be divided roughly into three great battles. The chief of these was fought in the Carpathian region, between Lemberg, where the forces under General Linsingen had not only crossed the Dniester, but had progressed twelve miles beyond, getting astride the Lemberg railroads. These were the forces which the Russians apparently have forced back with heavy loss, thus placing the river in Russian hands through-out.

The second great battle, or series of battles, took place in the territory between Tarnobrzeg and Zydachow, and along this line the Russians claim to have repulsed the German with severe punishment.

North of both of these areas and east of Przemysl was the scene of the third battle. Here General Mackensen, at the head of the main Austro-German forces, was trying to penetrate due east to Lemberg through Mostka. By Wednesday, according to the Russian contention, the German check in that locality was complete.

Serbia, it appears, is continuing her systematic occupation of northern and central Albania, and she may even now be in possession of Sarajevo.

Stripling, Broken, Says Confinement Is Hastening Death

At Bedside of Daughter Who Took Poison, He Cries, 'I Had Just as Well Be Dead. I Can't Stand It!'

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) COLUMBUS, Ga., June 12.—"It seems hard that I should be kept at the state farm until I have completely lost my health and buried my entire family," declared Edgar A. Stripling, who for the past four years has been confined at Milledgeville, following his remarkable career as chief of police of Danville, Va., where he lived for many years after he escaped in 1908 from Harris county authorities, where he has been sentenced to life for murder. Stripling, under a guard from the state pen, is still at the home of his wife on Waverly terrace here, at the bedside of his daughter, Ruth, aged eighteen, who is now recovering slowly from the effects of a big dose of carbolic acid, swallowed yesterday.

"I may follow the example of my daughter some day," Stripling continued. "I can't stand it much longer. I feel now a nervous wreck and I seem to be gradually growing worse. I had just as well be dead, and have buried my wife and a brother-in-law and the indications are that we are to bury another. My brother-in-law died with consumption contracted while in jail an innocent man, on the charge I am suffering from."

Stripling appears to be suffering from a nervous breakdown and he is quite dependent upon his condition and that of his family. He talks little, the above being related in brief paragraphs and over the protest of members of his family. According to the guard, he is here for an indefinite period, pending the outcome of the illness of his daughter.

Take Monkey's Finger Prints

(From the New York Sun.) It was finger print day in the monkey house at the Central Park Zoo. One of the monkeys, a young male, was taken to the monkey house and his fingers were taken by the keeper, who was assisted by a woman.

Aside from the fact that monkeys are as suspicious as humans, they are very difficult to handle. The keeper, who was assisted by a woman, was taken to the monkey house and his fingers were taken by the keeper, who was assisted by a woman.

When facing the link the behavior of the animals was as a whole good. They clenched their teeth and fingers a good deal, but Bill Snyder, who had been taken to the monkey house, was quite satisfied. The keeper, who was assisted by a woman, was taken to the monkey house and his fingers were taken by the keeper, who was assisted by a woman.

JAP-CHINESE TROUBLE CAUSED RUSSIAN DEFEAT

Japan Held Up Ammunition and Effect Became Manifest Instantly

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, June 12.—The sudden check of the victorious westward march of the Russian armies was directly attributable to the recent crisis between China and Japan, according to information which has reached diplomatic circles here.

At the beginning of the war Russia is said to have turned to Japan for material. Japan was in a position to sell ammunition, small arms, and even cotton. The successful siege of Kiao Chow, and Japanese factories and metal works began to execute rapidly great contracts for Russia.

When the negotiations with China suddenly assumed a critical phase, however, it is said the Japanese government regarded it as prudent to retain these military supplies as a precautionary measure, and the effect was almost instantly manifest in the far distant Russian front.

The Russians had exhausted all their reserve ammunition and with their limited manufacturing facilities were dependent on Japan for powder, shot and shell.

In that emergency pressure was brought to bear on Japan through her allies and it is understood the current of supply now has again been established.

Review Asked in CUSTOMS RATE CASE

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, June 12.—Solicitor General Davis today asked the supreme court to review the 6 per cent customs discount recently decided upon by the government in the customs case.

The decision nullified the provision of the tariff law granting a 5 per cent reduction on all imports in American ships, the application of which had been given to all nations with which the United States has "favored nation" treaties.

Unless the supreme court reverses the decision about $20,000,000 in duties already contained will be refunded.

JUDGE REID MOURNED BY UNION COUNTY CITIZENS

Resolutions of Regret Are Adopted at Mass Meeting at Blairsville

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) BLAIRSVILLE, Ga., June 12.—The following resolutions were adopted at a mass meeting of Union county citizens: "Whereas, Judge C. S. Reid, who died at his home at Deatur, Ga., on the 7th, was born and raised at this place, and whereas he was greatly loved and respected by all our people on account of his true worth as a Christian gentleman, an eminent jurist, and a true citizen in every respect, and whereas his sad and unexpected death is a shock to all our people, we do hereby express our sympathy and grief with them at his loss."

"Therefore, he it resolved by us in mass meeting assembled, that we, the people of his native county, are saddened and shocked by the announcement of his death, and whereas, by his high type of true manhood and Christian character, he has reflected great honor on the county of his birth and its whole people, we do hereby express our sympathy and grief with them at his loss."

Lovely Curtains for a Girl's Room

The girl who is not interested in lovely furnishings for her room is a domestic heretic, for in no way is the home influence so strongly emphasized than in pleasant surroundings. This does not imply that they must be expensive, for some of the daintiest bedrooms and boudoirs that have been conceived have been furnished at moderate cost.

Everything depends upon the ingenuity and industry of the girl herself or her mother. Simple decorations may be employed which lend itself charmingly to the adornment of plain or dotted muslin curtains. The leaves are worked in solid satin, the petals filled in with French knots or some other decorative device.

MASKED MEN HOLD UP PASSENGERS IN FAR WEST

Southern Pacific Train Robbed by Two Bandits Who Get Away

(By Associated Press.) LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 12.—Two masked robbers, with revolvers drawn, boarded a Southern Pacific train en route from San Francisco to Los Angeles, at Chatsworth at midnight last night, robbed passengers of $450 and escaped. They compelled men and women in the last four coaches to give up their money and jewelry, then pulled the signal stopping the train and fled. Officials said today they believed an accomplice had been saving the money, and they returned the fire, but no one was hit. Officers throughout this section began search for the men at daybreak.
